Guide Sheet – Task Cards 1-30 + 1 Guide Sheet + 1 Ideas Sheet

Actual Message

This is where the children try to write the shortened form of the message. E.g, the above sign would be something along the lines of “Turn Right Only”

This is a space where the children could make bullet point notes about the above sign. These may include how they promote road safety, what the purpose of the sign is, reasons for having a sign in a particular place etc.

Reasons / Purposes / How they help promote Road Safety

Notes about the Task Cards

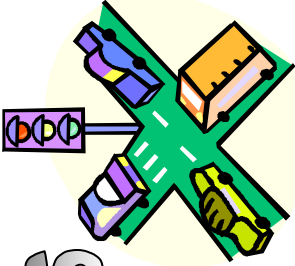

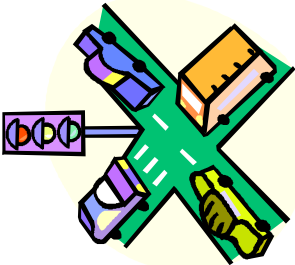

- All images come off the Land Transport Agency NZ website (they are legal signage for New Zealand roads)
- The cards can be used within a group, individually and/or as a class activity
- A large part of the reporting back process is intended to be oral rather than written (although feel free to do it any way that best suits you and your class)
- Some of the signs may be quite hard for some children depending on the level of the children the cards are used with. However, I have attempted to use the most common signs which are seen both in rural and city areas. Some of the traffic light/bus/transit ones may be a little difficult for rural students (the multi lights), as they are more so used in the major cities
- No doubt the children will come up with some further ideas to use the cards, so just go with whatever works best for you all
- These cards have been written with the main focus of a) promoting road safety, b) encouraging children to become more aware of and knowledgeable of common road safety signs within New Zealand, c) encourage open discussion between the child and people within their immediate environments (parents and children etc)

Cycle Safety – Things Your Bike Must Have...

Q1: Why is wearing a helmet compulsory in NZ?
Q2: What makes a good helmet (illustrate)? Q3: Why is it important to fit the helmet correctly?

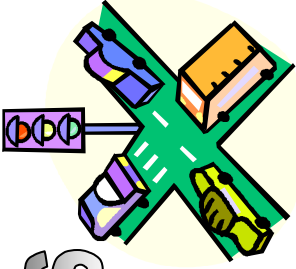

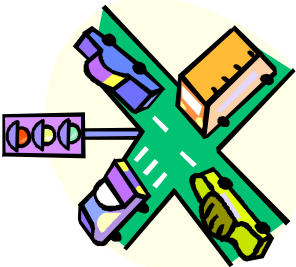

1. a rear red or yellow reflector at the back
2. * a steady or flashing rear-facing red light that can be seen at night from a distance of 100 metres
3. * a steady white or yellow forward-facing light that can be seen at night from a distance of 100 metres (a front flashing white or orange light may also be fitted)
4. * yellow pedal reflectors or the person must be wearing reflective material
5. good brakes on the front and back wheels, or, if the bike was made on or before 1 Jan 1988, a good brake on the back wheel

* when riding at night

Some other possible ideas...

- Any of the activities can be done as a class, as a group and/or individually
- Discussions between the different coloured signs (e.g. red and black signs versus yellow and black signs etc)
- Discussions between the different shaped signs (e.g. circle versus triangle shapes etc)
- Differences between able bodied and disabled persons
- The cards can be used as mini studies/presentations
- Cards can be used as a quiz
- The cards can also be given as homework sheets and/or used if the class is going on a trip (to look for the signs during travelling)
- These tasks can now be done as an Online version (Microsoft Word), so may or may not also be able to be done as an ICT/Internet study.
- To make a dictionary of 'Road Safety' terms/words
- To make a dictionary/pictionary of the actual images/signs, both the true ones and/or of their own ones
- Discuss/investigate further into bike/road, ATV safety both within a town/city and rural context
- To focus on other safety images and rules not touched on within the above task cards (round-a-bouts, the give way rule (give way to your right) etc
- Reflective signs/clothing and their uses
- Safety belt safety, including air bags and baby seats
- Listing other signage not included in the task cards (ducks, horses, snow, ice, electric signs such as on Desert Road etc)
- Doing a web search for further investigations
- Searching the NZ Transport Agency for answers to unknown images (www.nzta.govt.nz)
- Doing a mini study of aspects of road safety
- If within a town/city, perhaps do an experience where children take actual digital images of signs around the school/area
- Doing a newspaper/magazine search for symbols and contexts the symbols are in. This could also include thinking about road safety issues shown on the TV and/or radio stations
- As a follow on, discuss what makes a static image powerful with such little actual writing/words
- To consider other static images (such as other signs, food products and logos etc)
- Differences between times of parking and how these change on late nights, weekends, public holidays etc within their own area.
